What is the INCOSE?

The International Council on Systems Engineering (INCOSE) is a not-for-profit membership organization founded to develop and disseminate the transdisciplinary principles and practices that enable the realization of successful systems. INCOSE is designed to connect systems engineering professionals with educational, networking, and career-advancement opportunities in the interest of developing the global community of systems engineers and systems approaches to problems. We are also focused on producing state-of-the-art work products that support and enhance this discipline's visibility in the world.

INCOSE has grown significantly since its formation in 1990 with a membership that represents a broad spectrum—from student to senior practitioner, from technical engineer to program and corporate management, from science and engineering to business development. Members work together to advance their technical knowledge, exchange ideas with colleagues, and collaborate to advance systems engineering.

INCOSE acts as a focal point for communicating in the development of massive and complex engineered systems that are benefiting humans in not only physical but psychological, economic and cultural ways. Using Systems Engineering principles and concepts from scientific, technological, and management methods, INCOSE is helping solve today's ever-changing challenges.

What is the International Workshop?

INCOSE's International Workshop is the event of the year for systems engineers to contribute to the state of the art. Unlike INCOSE's annual International Symposium and other conferences, there are no paper, panel, or tutorial presentations. Instead, attendees spend 4 focused days working alongside fellow systems engineers who are there to make a difference. Systems Engineers at all levels and from all backgrounds are encouraged to engage in working sessions, and contribute their knowledge and experience to take the discipline forward.

The International Workshop 2025 will be held as a hybrid event allowing for in person attendance and remote participation.
